

PORT OF REDWOOD CITY

Richard Dodge

Commissioner

Dodge was originally appointed in 1980 and is one of the longest current consecutive serving port commissioners in the United States. Dodge's current term expires July 2022.

Dodge has owned and operated The Office City since 1976, turning it into one of the largest independent office products dealers in Northern California. Prior to that, he was in a management position with Airborne Express for 12 years.

Dodge has a B.S. in business administration from USC. Dodge has been involved in numerous maritime organizations, including past president and current Regional Coordinator of the Association of Pacific Ports. He has been called upon to make numerous presentations before the American Association of Port Authorities (AAPA). He and his wife Ginny have three adult daughters and have seven grandchildren.